

Project Use Case & Deployment Confirmation Certificate

This is to formally acknowledge that the following student(s) from K.R. Mangalam University have successfully undertaken and completed an industry-based project under our mentorship, in alignment with the stated objectives and requirements of our organization.

Project Details:

- Project Title: Grocery Stock Management
- Domain/Technology Used: Python, Flask, HTML/CSS, JavaScript, SQL databases (e.g., MySQL, PostgreSQL), Scikit-learn, Pandas, NumPy, Matplotlib, Seaborn, Flask-Login, Flask-RESTful, Heroku/AWS, Git/GitHub, Docker, unittest/pytest, Selenium, and CI/CD pipelines.
- Industry Use Case / Business Problem Addressed:
 - The grocery stock management platform addresses a common issue faced by small retailers: inefficient inventory management. Retailers often struggle with stockouts, which lead to lost sales, and waste due to expired products. The platform automates inventory tracking, provides real-time stock level updates, and sends alerts for low stock or nearing expiration dates. It also uses machine learning to predict future stock needs, helping store owners make informed decisions about restocking. This solution streamlines inventory management, minimizes waste, and ensures that stores are always stocked with the right products, ultimately improving operational efficiency and profitability.

Expected Outcome/Utility of the Project in Our Organization:

The expected outcome of the grocery stock management platform is improved inventory efficiency, with reduced stockouts and minimized waste from expired products. By automating stock tracking and providing predictive insights, it enables retailers to make data-driven decisions and streamline operations. The utility lies in its ability to enhance operational profitability, ensuring optimal stock levels and a more organized inventory management system.
